Individual reflection

(5 min)

Think about any differences between behaviors and attitudes expected in Japan and those in your country. If there are, what are they, and why? If there aren't, why do you think so? Write your own opinion. For your thoughts, imagine situations such as classroom, greeting, and public transportation.

Lecture: Cultural behavior

Cultural Behavior:

The patterns of behavior that are shaped by a society's unique identity, values, and beliefs, which encompass elements such as language, religious practices, and social norms. These behaviors are taught to members of a cultural group to differentiate them from surrounding social groups (Nolan, 1978).

Important because...

- Each society has expected behaviors, and attitudes
- To have appropriate social interactions
- To be polite to others, to avoid misunderstandings and troubles.

Today's Goals

After this workshop...

1. To notice cultural gaps between Japan and your country
2. Can state specific Japanese culture
